

Welcome to Music and Drama:

The winter months are almost behind us—months when we prepared for the Christmas program, learned to line dance to the Cowboy Hustle, and performed some African and Greek dancing as well.

Now, as we look toward spring, the middle school music classes are finishing up their year-long project—writing musicals on the lives of Beethoven, Fanny Mendelsohn, Amy Beach, and Mozart. The lower grades are continuing to learn a different dance each month. We are currently learning tininkling—a traditional Pilipino dance. And of course, there is always a lot of singing going on in my classroom as well!

The three middle school drama classes are busy preparing skits for a Variety Show which we hope to perform for the entire school in May.

The choir has been phenomenal this year, with not only beautiful voices, but several students also playing instruments during Mass each Wednesday.
